

Warns Farmers Not to Depend on Politics

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Farmers had better be seeking sound economic methods to create farm prosperity because they can't depend on Congress for political help, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today.

In an address prepared for the 20th annual meeting of the nine-state Consumers Cooperative Assn., Aiken said the number of farmers grows smaller every year.

"The time already is here when no farm program can be enacted by Congress unless it is approved by the non-farm population," the senator said. "We can no longer depend on political methods to secure even temporary prosperity."

"What Congress gives one year, Congress can take away the next."

"Right now there is a rising resentment against farm programs simply because the non-farm public believes that farmers are being unduly pampered and protected. We know better, but we cannot blame the public for believing charges which we do not refute."

A member of the Senate Agriculture Committee 17 years, Aiken said farmers shouldn't shun politics entirely.

"Every important business group in the country exercises its right to petition Congress," he said. "As farmers, we must protect our legislative interests. Unless we do, we are out of luck."

He emphasized that regional cooperatives are a means for farmers to gain economic power.

Hershel D. Newsum, master of the National Grange, in a prepared speech for the opening session also called for cooperative efforts, saying farmers needed collective bargaining to get reasonable prices and a fair share of the national income.

"Being inadequately organized," Newsum said, "farmers are defenseless against administrative pricing in industry and the collective bargaining of labor."

The meeting, expected to attract 3,500 persons, will continue through Thursday.

U. S. Watches Soviet Group in Germany

By RICHARD O'REGAN

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — U. S. military police have clamped an around-the-clock watch on the Russian military mission here in retaliation for Soviet harassment of a U. S. team in East Germany.

Army sources said today the four live-green U. S. Army sedan took up watch outside the high wire fence surrounding the Russian mission yesterday. The sedans have orders to follow any Russian vehicle leaving the compound.

U. S. Army sources said the measure was introduced because of repeated harassment of a U. S. military team at Potsdam in Communist East Germany.

Both the U. S. and the Russian missions date back to the four-power agreements. Both teams are supposed to have free movement.

The 24 Russian officers of the mission, their wives and children live in eight houses in a small fenced-in park on the outskirts of Frankfurt.

The U. S. military police sedans took up positions opposite the driveway.

Each sedan carries two soldiers and a man in civilian clothes, presumably a U. S. agent.

Army sources said the Soviets recently have not only followed the U. S. team in East Germany, but have put certain areas on a restricted list.

U. S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg declined to comment on the Frankfurt action.

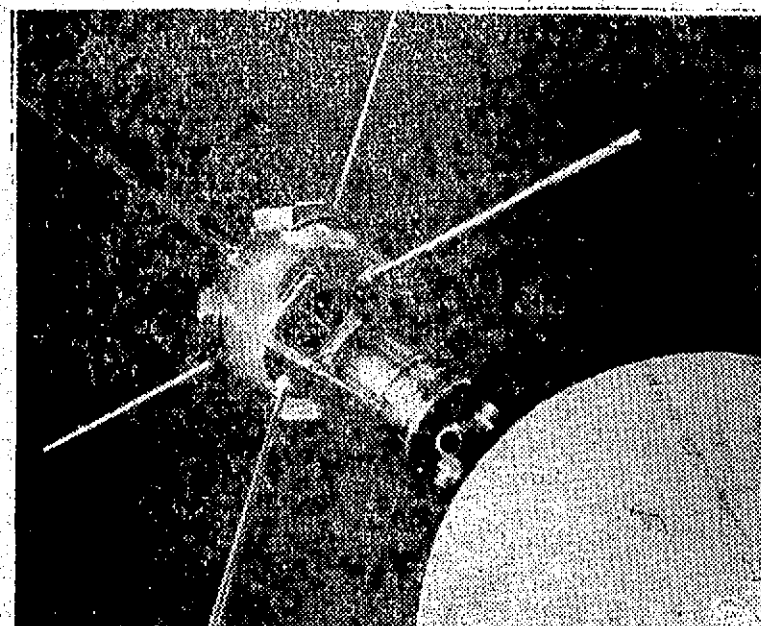

Cotton Picker Kills Farmer

MARKED TREE, Ark. (AP) — A mechanical cotton picker suddenly lurched forward and killed farm laborer Ezy Reeves as he was cleaning it near here yesterday.

Police said Reeves, 53, apparently was lying on the ground in front of the big machine at the time of the accident.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE — The fact that the 101st Airborne Division has left Little Rock, Ark., seems to have made little or no difference as the nine Negro students of Central High School showed up for classes as usual. The Negroes came in small groups of two and three and walked unmolested into the recently integrated school. Only a few Arkansas National guardsmen remain on duty at the school. — NEA Telephoto

Farm Family Winners Are Announced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A tenant family from Arkansas County today was named an Arkansas "farm family of the year."

The winners are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gradgeorge of Route 2, Stuttgart.

In the landowner division, the Fred A. Norris family of Route 4, Green Forest, took top place.

Other winners in the competition sponsored by the Arkansas Press Association and the Arkansas Power & Light Co. were:

Tenant Division — Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Williams, Route 1, Crawfordville, second, and Mr. and Mrs. Burl Judkins, Dardanelle, third.

Landowner Division — Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Ray, Washita Route, Mount Ida, second, and Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Moore, Route 1, Monticello, third.

Awards were made at a luncheon given by the sponsors.

Grandgeorge, who took pre-medical college work but decided to return to farming, grows rice, soybeans, soybeans and oats on his 600-acre farm. He and his wife have three children.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris, the parents of five children, own a 130-acre farm. Norris grows turkeys and beef cattle and operates a dairy.

Even Dogs Leery of the Future of This World

By ED CREAUGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — "No, Rover, I can never marry you," sobbed Mimi, the beautiful French poodle. "Go, and never darken my kennel door again."

"Hah!" declaimed the spurned suitor. "I'm not good enough for you, eh? You think I can't buy you the chopped sirloin you're accustomed to!"

"It's not that, Rover," Mimi wept. "I'd share my last bone with you. I'd rob trash cans with you, but..."

"I see it all now," said the male dog darkly. "It's because I'm a beagle, isn't it? You think of me as an interior, just because you won that silly best-of-show ribbon!"

"No, no!" Mimi's protests rose to a hysterical yelp. "I have nothing against you at all, Rover. If I were to marry anyone—but I can't, you see. Not even you. Not while you're a dollop of bluish undercoat and powder-gray muzzle. Then she confessed."

Missile Flaw Has Engineers Working Hard

By VERN HAUGLAND

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Engineers worked at top speed today to prepare America's first space satellite for launching at dawn tomorrow or soon thereafter.

They apparently remedied one last-minute problem; the malfunctioning of ground support equipment designed to cool some of the fuel before it was dumped into the rocket. A valve was replaced.

They also labored to eliminate noise interference in the crucial second stage of the three-stage vehicle which will attempt to place a 6 1/2-inch ball into an orbit 300 to 1,200 miles above the earth.

If it is not eliminated, this difficulty could make the 72-foot-tall rocket wobble in flight and cause it to break up.

The experts were optimistic that they would have this trouble all worked out.

No Visible Effect at Central High

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Central High School integration crisis seems to have had no visible effect on Little Rock, the Israeli consul general, stationed at Atlanta, said yesterday.

"I haven't seen anything unusual," Nahum Astor said. "If there is any tension it doesn't show."

"These are silly times," he laughed. "What a thing to be afraid of. One dog in all this world has been Sputnikized. The chances that one of ours might be—it's simply fantastic."

"These are fantastic times," Mimi reminded him. "Who knows how many Sputniks there may be? Who knows how many dogs can be put in a Sputnik? I—I'm sorry, Rover. I just can't take the chance."

Rover licked his lips meditatively. "All right, suppose that it happened," he said. "Suppose one of our pups was the first dog to ing of Rover. Do you think dogs have any right to bring puppies into a world like this? When they might be packed in a Sputnik and shot out into space at any moment?"

Rover—half way out the door at the mention of puppies—whirled on his heel, which is no mean trick for a beagle.

"Why, you silly goose," he laughed. "What a thing to be afraid of. One dog in all this world has been Sputnikized. The chances that one of ours might be—it's simply fantastic."

"These are fantastic times," Mimi reminded him. "Who knows how many Sputniks there may be? Who knows how many dogs can be put in a Sputnik? I—I'm sorry, Rover. I just can't take the chance."

State NAACP President Is Fined $100

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was fined $100 by Municipal Judge Harry C. Robinson today on a charge of violating a city ordinance requiring disclosure of NAACP confidential records. She appealed to Circuit Court.

The recently-passed ordinance calls for certain organizations to file membership and financial information on official demand.

The law apparently was aimed at the NAACP although no groups was singled out by name. It also has been used here against other organizations, including three composed of racial segregationists.

The other groups filed their reports. Filing of Mrs. Bates is expected to result in a determination by the Arkansas Supreme Court of validity of the ordinance. What ever the outcome in Circuit Court, an appeal to the state's highest court is expected.

The NAACP has filed a civil suit contending the ordinance is unconstitutional, but this is being held in abeyance pending a final decision in the case heard today.

A charge of violating the ordinance against the Rev. J. C. Crenshaw, president of the NAACP's Little Rock chapter, was dismissed by Robinson on ground that Crenshaw had not been notified personally to file the requested information.

AMA Warned of Proposed Legislation

By FRANK CAREY

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. David B. Altman, president of the American Medical Assn., today urged the nation's organized doctors to fight a "new peril" to their professional freedom.

He called upon all 165,000 AMA members to wage a local action campaign to enlist support of their communities against proposed national legislation which he declared would, if passed, mark the beginning of the end of the private practice of medicine in this country.

Specifically, he urged the doctors to campaign against a proposal introduced in the closing session of the 85th Congress by Rep. Almon Ford (D-R.I.).

Under the Ford bill, hospitalization and surgical benefits would be provided under the Social Security program.

His presidential address was prepared for the AMA's 11th annual clinical session, and presented at the opening session of the policy-making House of Delegates.

Dr. Altman, an Atlantic City retired surgeon, declared: "If passed, the federal government would withdraw Social Security taxes on a compulsory basis from almost the entire working population and use those taxes to reimburse hospitals on physicians for services rendered to all persons — some 12 to 13 million — eligible to receive old age and survivors benefits."

"This is socialized medicine," he said, and "national compulsory health insurance all over again."

$2 Billion Hike in Budget Urged by Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower outlined to congressional leaders today plans for a two billion dollar increase in the defense budget, devoted primarily to missiles and anti-aircraft equipment.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Republican Policy committee said as he came out of a five-hour White House conference that the President told the Congress members he will ask for $3,940,000,000 in foreign aid funds.

This compares with $3,436,000,000 appropriated in Congress this year in new money for mutual security.

Bridges told reporters that despite economies which may be made elsewhere a two billion dollar increase in military spending will carry the defense budget figure above 40 billion dollars.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower met with congressional leaders today to go over plans for solving the problems of national defense and foreign policy, made critical by Russian scientific advances.

The recuperating President got a warm round of applause from key men of both parties as he appeared in the Cabinet room to take the chair for the briefing session.

Half an hour earlier Eisenhower received from his physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, another report of continuing excellent progress in his recovery from the mild stroke which he suffered a week ago yesterday.

Eisenhower was in his office nearly an hour ahead of the congressional conference. Press secretary James C. Hagerly said he was there giving a final check to matters to be brought up at the session.

Just before the briefing itself got under way, Eisenhower had a 10-minute talk with Adlai Stevenson.

Polling Places in Marketing Quota Vote

Community referendum committees who will be responsible for conducting the cotton marketing quota referendum through the county on Dec. 10 have been announced by the Hempstead County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. All members are farmers eligible to vote in the referendum. Many of the referendum committeemen are also elected community committeemen.

Arrangements for the establishment of polling places in all of Hempstead County's 12 cotton-growing communities have been completed. Notices are now being mailed to each farmer who has a cotton acreage allotment, informing him of the place where he may vote in the referendum. All persons who, as landlord, tenant, or sharecropper, engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1957 are eligible to vote in the upland referendum. If there is any question about eligibility, farmers are asked to check with their County ASC Office.

The community polling places and the referendum committeemen serving in the Dec. 10 poll are as follows:

Springhill — T. B. Bobo, C. M. Moman, E. O. Lafferty, R. G. Moman, alternate at Collins Store.

Palmus — W. B. Jones, C. P. Jones, W. Y. Jackson, S. S. Wright alternate at Riders Store.

Shover Springs and Rocky Mount — W. C. Abbott, O. F. Ruggles, Lloyd Sanders, Jim Chambers, alternate at Olwell's Store.

Hope — Bill Schooley, James C. Russell, Nell Osborn, Chas. W. Key, alternate at ASC Office.

Story of How 90-Year-Old Mother, Two Daughters Were Starved Amid Some Wealth

CHICAGO (AP) — A story of how a 90-year-old mother and her two daughters starved amid relative wealth was disclosed in Probate Court yesterday.

The court proceedings disclosed, to that the mother, Mrs. Hattie Rice, had been held captive by one of her daughters, Dorothy, 50, in a suburban Oak Park eight-family apartment building which the Rices owned.

It was disclosed at proceedings to name a conservator for the estate of Mrs. Rice that on Nov. 18 police went to the Rice apartment after a passer-by reported that Dorothy was yelling incoherently from a balcony. Inside the litter-strewn apartment they found Mrs. Rice, weighing only 30 pounds, in a bed with her other daughter, Marlain, 53, lying dead beside her.

Police Capt. Fremont Nester said Mrs. Rice told him: "Thank heavens you came. I'm hungry and I prayed for a year that somebody would rescue me."

Heat, gas and electricity had been turned off in the apartment two years before because of unpaid bills. The only food was a large box of a breakfast cereal.

Nester said that police found five cashier's checks totalling $5,300 in the apartment and 14.03 in cash.

The court was told that the apartment building is owned by Mrs. Rice and is valued at about $100,000. The other apartment house tenants were evicted in an eight room residence owned by the Rices. Both buildings have been idle since except for the Rices' apartment.

Mrs. Rice was taken to a nursing home. Since then she has gained 30 pounds.

Dorothy, who weighed only 90 pounds, was committed to the Kankakee State Hospital.

Police said that Mrs. Rice's husband, a grain broker, died in 1940.

Father of Hope Woman Succumbs in Little Rock

Clud B. Swicegood, a resident of Nashville, died Monday in the Missouri Pacific hospital at Little Rock.

Survivors include a son, W. C. Swicegood of North Little Rock and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Graham of Hope and Mrs. Joe Garner of Florence, Arizona.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Nashville. Burial by Lattimer Funeral Home will be in Memory Gardens of Hope.

Evening Shade to Hold Regular Singing

The monthly singing at Evening Shade Church, seven miles south of Hope on Highway 29, will be held Sunday Dec. 8. Everyone is invited to attend.

A public meeting has been called for 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Hope Chamber of Commerce office for the purpose of promoting the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission's Bois d'Arc project in southwest Hempstead.

All hunters and fishermen interested in securing this project completed are invited to attend Friday night's conference.

U. S. Savings Bonds sales in October of $14,510 sent the year's total to $263,301 or 67.5 per cent of the $390,000 quota.

Sales in Howard County as reported by Louie Dickinson, totaled $13,437, making the year $111,861 or 88 per cent of the $130,000 quota set.

Lafayette County sales ran $19,835 with the $95,542 total being 83.8 per cent of the $114,000 quota.

Dale Ledbetter of Nevada County reported October sales of $9,701 which brings the year to $113,610 or 67.7 per cent of the $108,000 quota.

The quota average of the entire district through October is 71.2 per cent.

Russian Samovar Days Numbered

MOSCOW (AP) — The days of the old-fashioned, charcoal-burning Russian samovar are numbered.

NI Russian home is complete without one of the metal urns simmering tea in the corner. One and a half million of the old-style ones were produced in the last three years in Tulsa, the Soviet Union's largest samovar production center.

A report from Tulsa today said the new line of samovars will make tea by electricity. As a concession to the dealers—and to rural areas not fully electrified—some of the charcoal burners will be produced for a while longer, the report said.

Bell Workers Gain Control of Small Firm

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Public Service Commission reported yesterday what it called the "astounding revelations" that two Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employees gained control of another telephone company.

The PSC ordered Angel Allen and W. B. Hale to return $17,818 in withdrawals which it said they made during 1955-56 from Arkansas Telephone Co. Allen and Hale were due $2,400 for work done by them on the telephone facilities, the PSC said.

Arkansas Telephone operates exchanges in Clinton and Shirley.

"This case is one of the most unusual situations that has ever come before this commission in that two employees of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. by the execution of personal notes have gained control of a utility and disposed its assets to the extent of $15,414," the PSC said.

Allen has resigned as president of Arkansas Telephone. A company accountant told the PSC the firm's finances are precarious and a $13,000 loan is needed.

Manslaughter Charge in Death of Boy

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Thurman McMinn was bound over to a circuit court yesterday on a charge of manslaughter in the death of a 14-year-old boy, early Thanksgiving morning.

McMinn testified at a preliminary hearing in municipal court here that he shot Lloyd Neal Brown because "I thought it was someone trying to get into my house."

Brown was killed by a shotgun blast after he knocked at the door of the McMinn home near Manila.

Police said Brown went to the McMinn home to get McMinn's son to go duck hunting.

Apparently Shot Himself in Heart Accidentally

Thomas G. (Chubby) Anderson, aged 37, a member of the Hope Police Department for about 15 years, was fatally shot about 11 a.m. today in police headquarters, Chief of Police Jack Brown said.

Officer Anderson apparently shot himself accidentally with a .22 cal. rifle which the Department used to kill dogs and cats. He was alone at the station.

Shortly before he had radioed a squad car to come by the station reporting "that a dog on Spruce Street had to be killed."

When officers walked into the station they found him wounded on the floor. He died enroute to the hospital, the bullet had penetrated his heart.

Chief of Police Jack Brown and Officer Howard Millam took Anderson's call from station. They found him lying midway between inner offices of the department. An automatic rifle was lodged against the desk and a part of the stock had been broken. The gun is kept between a desk and a wall in the station's back office.

Chief Brown said a Coroner's inquest would be held, probably late today.

Mr. Anderson, well-known throughout the city for his wit, was a native of Hempstead. He had long been an officer here, having worked about 15 years.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Anderson of near Hope. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Herndon-Cornelius.

Extra Bonus for Penney Employees

NEW YORK — J. C. Penney Company announced today that its directors have authorized a special Christmas payment for more than 60,000 associates in the Company's 1,700 stores, offices and warehouses throughout the United States.

The payment will include all full time associates as well as extra and part-time associates and those employed on or before Oct. 1, 1957.

All eligible Penney associates will share in the payment except management staff members whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long-standing profit sharing plan. The payment will be made in all stores, offices and warehouses on Dec. 3.

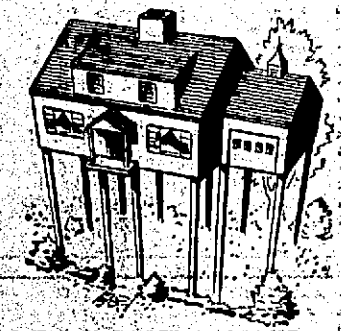

The payment is in addition to regular company provisions for associates' benefits, including sick benefits, hospital and surgical insurance plan, gratuity and death benefits.

"I'd be scared to death," said Mimi, weeping again.

"Dogs on the moon," Rover mused. "We could run the place."

"We'd have it all organized by the time people got there. We'd make them our slaves. I can hear us now. 'Here, human. Roll over, human. Jump through this hoop, human.'"

"And we'd give them silly names," chimed in Mimi excitedly, pawing away her tears.

"We'd feed them our table scraps!"

Union Members Called in Hoffa Questioning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Teamster Union members from Tennessee were called to testify today in a rank-and-file court challenge of the election of James R. Hoffa as president of the big union.

Charles Stewart and Brownie M. Moore are expected to tell of the method of selecting delegates from their Nashville Local 227 to the Miami Beach convention that elected Hoffa to succeed Dave Beck last October.

The rank-and-file group of 13 Teamsters from the New York City area has obtained a temporary court order to prevent Hoffa from taking office until the Federal District Court rules on their challenge of the election.

Godfrey P. Schmidt, New York, counsel for the group, contended as the trial opened that the convention was "rigged."

Records of conventions since 1947, Schmidt contended, would show "complete domination and dictatorship by the top brass of the union."

The first of the 50 or more witnesses the rank-and-file group has ready to testify said that to his knowledge, local 961 in Denver never held an election to pick delegates to the Miami convention.

Frederick Walter Denver of Aurora, Colo., who said he has been a member of the Denver local for three years, testified he attended two meetings of the local this year prior to the convention.

The idea met with general disfavor by labor leaders.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, sent word through aides that he would personally scotch the idea in a speech to one of the several union groups meeting in advance of the AFL-CIO convention.

Mitchell, here to address a meeting of the AFL-CIO Metal Trades Department, said any efforts on the part of management or labor to reduce housing costs "is to be commended."

But he said any moratorium must be considered by labor and management itself, and not the government.

Labor federation leaders generally disagreed with the plan put forward by President Richard J. Gray of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department.

Union Wage Moratorium Is Suggested

By NORMAN WALKER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today the idea of a moratorium on union wage increase demands next year should be "seriously considered."

But he avoided any outright support or rejection when asked about a plan advocated yesterday by representatives of 3½ million unionists by one of their colleagues.

House Group Sees No Hope for Tax Cut

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders agreed today their hope for tax cuts next year is virtually dead.

Not one of a group interviewed on the subject saw any chance for lowering of the tax burden which many of them thought earlier this year might be eased in 1958.

"I don't think it looks very favorable for a significant reduction," said House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

"I don't think there's much chance to cut taxes," said Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, House Republican leader.

Chairman Coper (D-Ten.) of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee wouldn't comment on the prospects pending the start of hearings by his committee next month on general tax revision.

But Rep. Mills (D-Ark.) second-ranking committee member, told the American Tax Foundation at a New York meeting that prospects for tax cuts were dim, although some adjustments might be in order.

The senior Republican on Coper's committee, Rep. Reed of New York, said he would press for tax relief "just the minute" it appears possible. But he added that there would have to be a surplus of from two to three billion dollars in the Treasury before anything other than an infinitesimal cut could be made.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee agreed with most others that heavy defense spending next year would rule out tax cuts, and commented: "Heavy taxes are what is balancing the budget now. You can't keep the budget balanced if you reduce taxes."

Both Rayburn and Martin said they would support the appropriation of every dollar necessary to keep up national defense and security and to overcome what Rayburn called the "humiliation" inflicted on the United States by Russia in the field of science.

They agreed that emphasis in defense spending must be placed on missile development.

However, in his State of the Union message last January, called on labor and management to exercise voluntary restraint in wage demands.

Favors Holiday Idea for Guards

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus today endorsed a suggestion that all Arkansas National Guard troops still federalized in connection with the Little Rock school integration controversy be given Christmas furloughs.

Faubus said that "there is no need for a single member of the National Guard to be on duty during the Christmas holidays at Central High School."

"They are serving under orders to enforce integration at the school, and there will be nothing for them to do during the holidays but guard school properly."

"If the school authorities are afraid of vandalism, THEY CAN play two or three security guards."

The Arkansas guard was called into federal service on Sept. 24 to enforce court-ordered attendance of nine Negro students in Central. At the same time, paratroopers were sent here, but the last of the regulars went back to Ft. Campbell, Ky., last week.

Boy Killed Trying to Run Down Officer

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A state police lieutenant said one of his troopers shot and killed a 14-year-old boy last night as the ill-fated boy tried to run down the trooper in a stolen car chase in which speeds at times were up to 100 miles an hour.

The boy deliberately tried to run down the trooper, the lieutenant declared.

The victim was Paul Misencik of Pittsburgh. A 13-year-old companion, Anthony Machi, also of Pittsburgh, escaped injury.

Lt. Richard Gray told this story:

"The proprietor of a service station phoned police that two youths, in a 1958 model car later reported stolen, had driven off without paying for gasoline."

Troopers Harry Ewing and Homer Redd spotted the auto and chased it.

Finally, the auto slowed as if to stop. Ewing slowed the patrol car and Redd jumped out. As he approached the still slowing auto, the young driver spun the wheel and turned the car around, driving toward Redd.

Redd fired three shots, two hitting Misencik who lost control of the car which plowed into a guard rail.

Gray said Machi told him that as Misencik drove the car toward 4400 10th St., Redd, Machi said: "You're going to hit that cop."

Gray said Machi told him Misencik replied: "I don't care."

Dist. Atty. David Wolfe of Cambria County said all indications were that firing at the car was justified.

Holiday Death Toll Goes Over the 500 Mark

By United Press

Traffic accidents—killed more than 500 persons during the four-day Thanksgiving week and to wreck forces of safety officials that the fatality count would be held below that of a similar non-holiday period.

The United Press counted at least 607 persons killed on the nation's highways from 6 a.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday night. Plane crashes killed 9 persons and 101 were killed in miscellaneous accidents for an overall holiday toll of 617.

The traffic toll ran well ahead of this year's Fourth of July holiday, when 413 fatalities were recorded, and the three-day Labor Day holiday, which killed 445. However, it still was well below the tragic 700 traffic deaths counted during the four-day 1956 Christmas holiday.

The National Safety Council did not issue a traffic death estimate for the Thanksgiving holiday, but the home of Mrs. R. T. White for a pot-luck luncheon Monday, Dec. 2 at 12:30. Mrs. C. W. Bridges was the assistant hostess.

Present for the luncheon were 22 members and two guests, Mrs. W. L. Williams and Mrs. W. M. Reinhardt. After the luncheon, Mrs. R. T. White presided over the business session.

Mrs. C. D. Lester told a Christmas story "Anniversary" in a most entertaining manner. After which the group sang "Silent Night" to close the meeting.

DOROTHY DIX

Interfere and You'll Only Invite Trouble

Dear Dorothy Dix: There's a young girl on our street with five young children. She neglects them shamefully. I've never seen them with clean clothes, faces or hands, they cry morning, noon and night. I'm a young mother myself and know how busy children can keep one, but this woman spends all day gossiping with the neighbors and never takes care of her youngsters. What could I say to make her understand that she's not doing her best? One neighbor told her husband about it, and got scolded. Why should the children suffer so? ERNESTINE

Dear Ernestine: I'm afraid this looks high on the list of things that are none of your business. If the children are flagrantly neglected—obviously underfed, scantily clad in cold weather, or need medical care—you can complain to the local welfare authorities. Otherwise, maintain a strict hands-off policy. The conduct of a wife and mother is a matter for family's concern. Surely this woman must have relatives who have spoken to her about her laziness? Obviously they did no good. It's very hard to see situations like this develop right under our noses, but certainly criticism from a neighbor won't accomplish anything. If you really want to be charitable and well-meaning, have the kids in for an occasional treat of sandwiches and cocoa.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 15, and like a boy a year older. He'd like to take me to the show, to school dances, and parties, but Daddy says "no." He thinks I'm too young to do. This boy is a very fine person, smart in school, liked by all his teachers and I don't think I could go out with anyone nicer.

Dear Bubbles: One of the hardest facts for a father to accept is that his little girl is old enough to date. The process can't be hurried, either. Get Mom on your side and see if she can't convince your father that you are growing up. Another help might be my leaflet, "What Age For Dating?" Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

noted that about 500 persons would be killed during a normal four-day period at this time of year. The traffic toll had been running near normal during the early stages of the long week end, but an upswing in accident Sunday night as motorists hurried home wiped out all chances of spotting a holiday safety mark.

California had the highest traffic toll with 50 dead. Ohio followed with 35 killed. Michigan counted 26, Illinois 24, Arkansas and New York 23 each, and Florida 21.

New Hampshire and the District of Columbia had no fatalities. The worst single accident of the holiday killed nine persons Saturday night in a high speed two-car collision near Nogales, Ariz. Six of the victims were airmen from Davis-Monthan Air Force base at Tucson, Ariz.

Final Plea for Boy Who Shot Mother's Lover

SANTA MONICA, Calif., (INS) — Charles Lee Guy Jr., is scheduled to make his final plea tomorrow for the life of his 19-year-old son, who is on trial charged with the Aug. 15 shotgun death of his mother's lover.

A Santa Monica Superior Court jury of 10 women and two men will decide whether Charles Lee Guy III killed Guy P. Roberts, 40, meat packing firm executive, while he slept in a motel room, or whether, as he claims, he confessed to murder to protect his mother, six-times married Nina Miles, 37.

Testimony in Judge Allen T. Lynch's court has brought to light a sordid love triangle involving the mother, the slaying victim and William Miles, her current husband.

The red-haired mother was the common-law wife of Miles until she became infatuated with Roberts last summer and moved into his hotel apartment.

After Roberts' slaying, she returned to Miles. They legalized their relationship with a marriage ceremony in Tijuana, Mexico, Nov. 3.

Four of Mrs. Miles' husbands have figured in the trial. The youth's father, her first husband, and John Angus, her second husband, are defense attorneys.

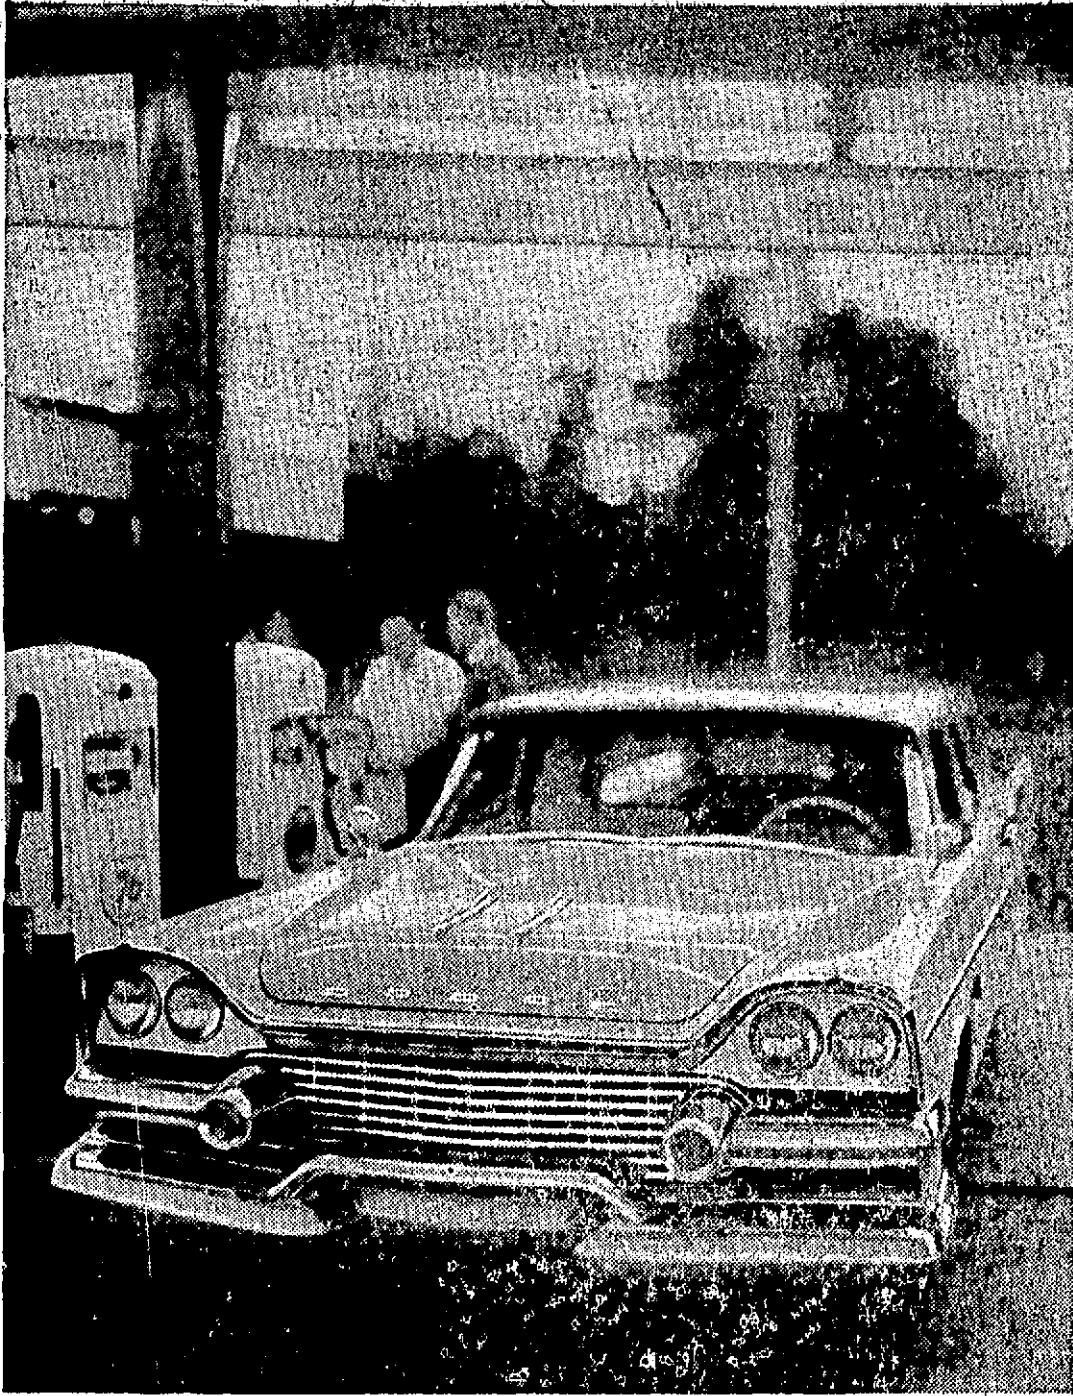

Her third husband appeared as a defense witness. Her sixth husband, then ask Mom to pass it on.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Jerry and I dated for about three months, but lately his interest in me seems to be slackening, while my love for him is increasing. He hasn't been in touch with me now for over two weeks. Should I contact him or would it be better for me to wait? JEANNIE

Dear Jeannie: Wait, unless you have a good excuse like a Christmas party coming up. I trust you didn't let the daylight shine too brightly, for nothing will scare a young man off as quickly as a girl who is too eager. Simmer down next time.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My closest friends and I are in a dilemma. We met a boy at a party, and we all liked him. He dates Grace, then Jorita, and now me — and I have really fallen for him. He says he can never choose just one of us, but it's leading to some pretty bitter feelings. I can't tell you. DISTRESSED

Dear Distressed: Now why would any cute chick want a boy who can't make up his own mind. Leave him to the competition, dear distressed, and begin anew at the next party you attend.

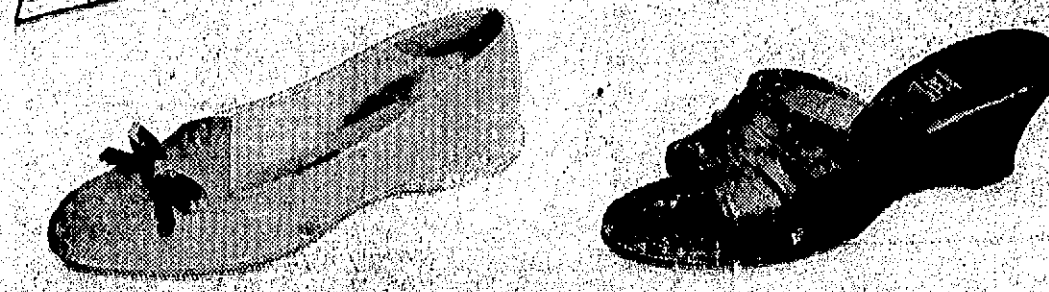

"IT WAS A NICE TRY, BUT..." seems to sum up public opinion about competitive cars attempting to equal the styling and features of the Swept-Wing 58. They tried to get as low, but had to lower the roof to do it. (Less headroom, same high, boxy, cooped-up look.) Their windshields got smaller, while ours got bigger. Most of them still don't have Total-Contact Brakes to assure smooth, even, safe stops when needed. Nor do they offer push-button TorqueFlite, the proven automatic transmission, and Constant-Control power steering that works full time—not part time as some other systems do. And Dodge no-sway, no-dip Torsion-Aire is standard equipment. (Bus-type air springs offered by some cars cost well over $100.00 extra.) So compare all the 1958 models with Dodge. We think you'll agree: Other cars are catching on, but they can't catch up.

band. Miles, was a prosecution witness, testifying that her son had confessed to her that he killed Roberts.

Her son denied night-blank from the stand that he shot-gunned Roberts.

He testified for his "sister" clothes, two shirts and three belongings from the death room on the night he stumbled drunkenly in to find Roberts' body.

The youth said he was trying "to cover up for my mother."

He indicated he believed his mother was involved in the slaying and that he wanted to make it look like robbery.

Under cross-examination by Deputy District Attorney David N. Pitts, he testified: "I thought that either my mother or Mr. Miles had killed Mr. Roberts," and added: "She would write on the mirror at Mr. Miles' house 'I Love You,' and then she'd go up to Mr. Roberts' place and write the same thing on the mirror. It was a mess."

In response to a question, the youth replied: "She was living at both homes."

Pitts, while conceding that Mrs. Miles is an unlikely candidate for "another of the year," has asked the jury to return a first degree murder verdict.

HAND-PICKED for MURDER

Copyright 1957 by Robert Martin

THE STORY: Private Investigator Jim Bennett has received a large legacy if he marries before his 25th birthday, one month off. Otherwise the money is to be equally divided between Wayne and his father Hugo. Bennett has learned that Wayne has married Sandra Osterman.

CHAPTER XIV

I made another call to Detroit. This time to the agency's office there. Oscar Gooding, head of the Detroit branch, was not in, but the girl told me that Lew Hancock, one of Oscar's full time men was there. I said I would talk to Lew. When he came on I said, "Hi, Lew. This is Jim Bennett."

"How are you, Jim? How're things in Cleveland?"

"Okay. Listen, Lew; I need some dope on a woman and two men, all Detroit residents. Got a pencil?"

"Yep. Shoot."

I gave him the names of Sandra Osterman, Hugo Howell and Ambrose Lott, told him what I knew about them, and added, "I don't think any of them has a police record, but check anyway. I'm particularly interested in Lew Osterman woman, but I'll appreciate anything you can dig up about any of them—anything at all."

He asked a couple of questions and then said, "All right, Jim. I'll take a while. Where are you?"

"I told him and gave him the phone number of the Harbor House in Lakeport. 'Time is important. When do you think you'll have something?'"

"Maybe today yet. It's quiet here and I'll get right on it. If it drags out, I'll call you tomorrow."

"Fine. If I'm not here, leave a message and I'll call back."

"Right, Jim." He hung up. I went back to the bar.

Howell banged his fist on the bar and spoke to Otto in a loud rasping voice. "Two double ryes—quick."

Ambrose Lott leaned against the bar, his head jolling. I wondered if Howell had taken my advice about eating and sleeping. When I'd left him at noon he'd been staggering, but now he carried himself with an odd stiffness. Maybe he had stopped drinking and was now starting all over again, or maybe he hadn't stopped at all. With a man like Howell it was hard to tell.

"There are other customers waiting to be served," Otto said, and then added, "Besides, I think you and your friend have had enough to drink."

"Why, you?" Howell began.

"Go ahead, Otto," the thin waitress said from where she'd been standing at the end of the bar. "I'll wait."

Otto hesitated, his lips compressed. Then he placed his glasses before Howell and Ambrose Lott. He poured the whiskey with a steady hand.

'Annie' Stood Out in TV Last Week

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The two most widely discussed television shows of the past week—"Annie Get Your Gun" and "The Pied Piper of Hamelin"—both presented by NBC-TV from Hollywood—had only one thing in common. They were musicals.

On my personal entertainment measuring stick, "Annie Get Your Gun" stood way at the top and "The Pied Piper" was far at the bottom.

Annie had certain natural advantages. She was played by Mary Martin, undoubtedly the most popular woman performer when they see such things on the screen.

"And I don't think they show a true picture of young people today. All in all, I think kids are a good bunch."

The way to keep kids out of trouble is to keep them interested in things, Walt said. One of his big projects is to stimulate youthful interest in science, now recognized as an urgent national need. His film "Our Friend the Atom" is a favorite in the schools.

"I think we can do a lot more things like the atom and space features," he said. "I'd like to tackle a subject like mathematics and try to make it interesting to young people. That's a real challenge."

Walt is convinced that lecturing to kids is no answer to delinquency. "Preaching won't keep kids out of trouble. But keeping their minds occupied will."

While others overlook the vast juvenile market, Walt is developing his own stable of talented youngsters via his Mouseketeers. The payoff is shown in his latest release, "Old Yeller." The movie is a winner for the whole family, thanks in large part to such Disney moppets as Tommy Kirk and Kevin "Moonchie" Corcoran.

Also, Annie was a thoroughly popular entertainment property before she had in television view. You would have to live very far up the creek indeed not to have heard previously some of the line songs Irving Berlin wrote for her.

The Pied Piper, on the other hand, was a completely untested entertainment property. About a century ago Robert Browning dusted him off with a little poem whose moral basically was that the crime of ingratitude does not pay.

A lady who enjoyed the Piper said, "Isn't it wonderful how they made so much from such a little story?" My reply: "But did they?"

No, ma'am, not to me. They didn't make fine music, though they called it a musical. They didn't make a memorable line with their dreary rhymed couplets. They simply made 90 minutes of it by tacking a meaningless cornball happy ending on what might have been a dramatically poignant and musically moving morality tale.

Disney Comes to Defense of Youngsters

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Despite all the publicity about delinquency, America's youngsters are a pretty good lot, says Walt Disney.

The film wizard is back from an extended vacation in Europe and rarin' to get going in new projects.

"One of the things I want to do is make a picture that shows the good side of teenagers," he said. "I get so put out with all these pictures about delinquency. I thought that one about Marion Brande and the motorcycles ('The Wild One') was bad, and 'The Blackboard Jungle' upset me for three days afterward."

"I think those pictures are a mistake. After all, 'monkey see, monkey do.' Kids get bad ideas on TV."

Also, Annie was a thoroughly popular entertainment property before she had in television view. You would have to live very far up the creek indeed not to have heard previously some of the line songs Irving Berlin wrote for her.

The Pied Piper, on the other hand, was a completely untested entertainment property. About a century ago Robert Browning dusted him off with a little poem whose moral basically was that the crime of ingratitude does not pay.

A lady who enjoyed the Piper said, "Isn't it wonderful how they made so much from such a little story?" My reply: "But did they?"

They simply made 90 minutes of it by tacking a meaningless cornball happy ending on what might have been a dramatically poignant and musically moving morality tale.

Poor Piper.

When Berlin and Herbert and Dorothy Fields created "Annie Get Your Gun" from the vast life of Annie Oakley they created a little story line, a little music, a little dancing, a little laughter. Annie shows that compression can be an essential quality of gay entertainment; the Piper shows that expansion can be disastrous.

U. S. Satellite Going Up in a Few Days

By BARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Defense Department announced today that "within a few days" America will attempt to rocket the first U. S. earth satellite into space.

The statement came on the heels of confirmed but unofficial information that Wednesday has been selected as the target date for the "Project Vanguard" launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The official statement, hedging against the chance of a failure, said only that there is "a possibility" the imminent firing will create an artificial moon, and added: "This is not the primary purpose of the test."

However, Vanguard experts previously told newsmen that the 72-foot-high, three-stage rocket should have an excellent chance of placing a satellite in orbit in the "first American attempt." It will be carrying a smaller "payload" than the one for which the rocket was designed.

The rocket was designed to propel a basketball-sized, 21 and one-half pound sphere into an orbit with a minimum altitude of close to 300 miles and a maximum of about 1,500 miles. The first test satellite is 6.4 inches in diameter and weighs three and one-fourth pounds.

The Defense Department said the first satellite, if successful, will be "too small to be seen with the naked eye or even with binoculars under the most favorable circumstances," although the five-foot long third-stage rocket that also will orbit the earth may be visible.

The statement explained that the satellite contains two radio transmitters, one powered by mercury batteries and the other by six solar cells implanted like windows on the sphere, and capable of providing power indefinitely.

The time for each revolution of the earth was estimated at 100 minutes "at an altitude averaging 300 miles."

When they see such things on the screen.

When Should an Ill President Bow Out

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Nothing happened this time. Nobody took President Eisenhower's powers away from him. Atty. Gen. Rogers said no one had to. But the fact Rogers got into the picture at all revives an old dispute. Vice President Nixon, after House staff. He said he stated his view after a "full discussion" with Eisenhower's doctors. The doctors had reported the President's slight stroke — they avoided use of the word stroke — was apparently "mild and transitory" and that his reading, writing and reasoning were not affected. But asking Rogers at all for his opinion — even though he is the highest legal officer in the government — raises a critical constitutional question about the future. If at some other time Eisenhower suffers an illness that makes his ability to carry out his duties questionable, who decides that he can or can't do his job? The attorney general?

There's nothing in the Constitution which says the attorney general has or has not such power. The Constitution is vague on this whole question. All the Constitution says is that if the President can't perform his duties, the vice president steps in. But there never has been agreement on these questions which spring from the vagueness. When and how and by whom is the decision made that a president can't do his job and that the vice president should step in? And, if the vice president does step in, is it temporary or permanent? Does he step back into the vice presidency if the President recovers? And who decides that a president has recovered? Or is a president automatically out of office once his vice president takes over his duties? And further: Suppose a president knows he's too disabled to do his job but refuses to let the vice president carry out his duties? Or suppose he's disabled and unconscious. Who decides then? Eisenhower himself sought to clear up this constitutional mess earlier this year by asking — through his then Atty. Gen. Brownell — an amendment to carry out two basic proposals he made. But there was nothing in his proposals that mentioned the attorney general or gave him any power of decision on presidential disability. This is what Eisenhower er suggested:

1. A disabled president can instruct his vice president to take over his duties — but it must be in writing — until he recovers. Then he will resume his duties.
2. When a president is disabled but unwilling to say so or is unable to say so, the vice president can take over until he recovers but only if a majority of the department heads in the Cabinet agree to it in writing.
In either case, when a president thinks he's back to normal and can do his job, he can say so and do so. That raises a new question: Suppose he's the only one who thinks he's back to normal. What happens

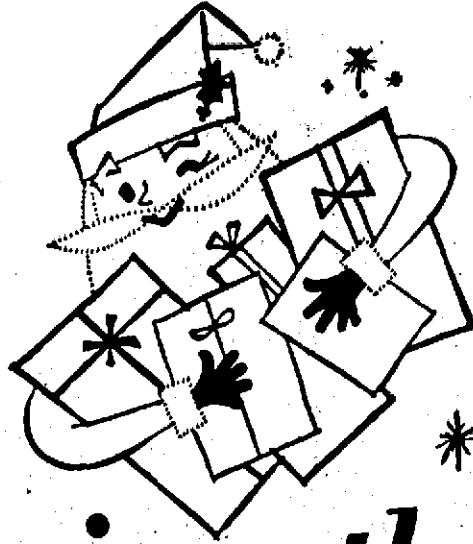

New Body Found, Identity Sought

MADISON, Wis., (UP)—Authorities today hoped to learn the identity of the person whose remains were found in a garbage through on the Plainfield, Wis., farm of butcher-killer Ed Gein. Officials of the Wisconsin state crime laboratory believed a rapid identification of the remains, which included a skull and bones, might be made through dental examination of the teeth. And state Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck, who is in charge of the investigation, said he would call in an anthropologist to aid in determining whether the victim was a man or woman. The remains were found Saturday by Portage County Sheriff Herbert Wanserski who said the skull was "not overly large with teeth on the lower jaw." He said 15 teeth on the upper jaw and 13 on the lower had a "prominent gold crown." That immediately raised speculation that the remains were those of a missing hunter, Ray Burgess, who was said to have a prominent gold tooth.
